

Forum: HM General Chit Chat

Topic: Origins

Subject: Re: Origins

Posted by: Dragondack

Posted on: 2006/3/27 21:52:21

Well ...let me see, says my start date is 2004/2/8 and truth be told that seems wrong but I guess I just could have been lurking for the 4-5 month before that?

After Finding Heromorph after going to Wizardcomics.com and seeing the great manips and them saying where they were from?

So it being the first days I got my computer I was looking up every address I found in magazines or any people told me about?

So after lurking about around here and reading comment.

I had read some unflattering comments about lurker and non participants.

This was the point where I thought I should sound off!

So I registered and joined up!

It really became an obsession cause when I start I just can't keep my mouth or typer shut!

Got to know most everyone and some even through e-mails too!

Even became a recruiter of sorts and wrote e-mails to get new people who were manippers to join up!

All has been lots of fun and I am glad to have this up and running again and hope it does so for a long time to come!