I think it will work like this lets say there are for some odd reason only 6 drawings. every one likes the work and lets say we have 7 inkers the rules never say it is a first come first serve. SO I think the inker will chose what ever drawing which means more than one person could end up doing the same picture to color. and the same for the manipers once they get blown away by the color. that is the way I see it anyway I could be dead wrong lol
