Anybody have any particularly funny run-ins with Normies? (For the uninitiated, Normies are what I like to call 'anti-geeks' who know nothing about science fiction, superheroes or any of the other things that we all hold dear.) At a comic book convention a few years ago, some guys dressed as Storm Troopers came out of the elevator by the entrance and some woman called them (I swear I'm not making this up) POWER RANGERS! I and a couple other people laughed out loud as she obviously had no freakin' clue what she was talking about. Anybody else have experiences like that?
