I think this is where not being a big marvel fan really pays off.

I never really followed the x-men except for the age of apokolips and the first 5 or six issues when Jim Lee started the new X-men title in the 90s.

So really I don't know the x-men history that well and I don't know most of the minor characters.

Hell I didn't even notice half these characters you guys are talking about even with the picture of Psylocke I don't remember her.

But why is this a good thing? you ask

Because I don't feel robbed. I thought it was a kick ass action movie with some cool powers and special effects.

But considering how bad they screwed up The Catwoman Mytho's I don't think you Marvel Fans have anything to be upset about.
