I have yet to decide what direction I want to go in as far as my anatomy studies go. I will definately give it some thought and get back to you on that.

As far as anything else goes artwise, I am aspur of the moment kinda gal ... so if something inspires me I want to learn about it.

Being a member here has wet my appetite to learn the art of comic book line drawing, so any advice etc that I could get on that front would be awsome.

Thanks for the feedback everyone.

Here's the original for MC and those that are interested.
