Blade = cool (even though it was the same movie 3 times)
Spider-man = great (1 and 2 are, though I haven't seen 3 for fear it will suck)
X-Men 1 and 2 were awesome, but X-Men 3 was so bad it actually went back in time and made the first two suck a bit.
Daredevil = bad
Elektra = worse
Hulk = horrible
Fantastic 4 = beyond awful (didn't bother seeing the second after the first)
Punisher = could have been good if it wasn't so sanitised (blood and bodies actually disappear)
Ghost Rider = watchable
The Iron Man previews look good.

So I have Marvel running at about 50%.

The only movies I can think of from DC recently are Batman Begins, Constantine and Superman Returns, and all were pretty good.

I have to wonder though, with all the millions spent on each movie, why are there so many suckfests? I reckon they need to make more movies away from Hollywood and focus groups - forget about what people say they want and just make a good movie.
