

Forum: HM General Chit Chat

Topic: Cloverfield

Subject: Re: Cloverfield

Posted by: Dragondack

Posted on: 2008/1/21 21:08:25

Quote:

how on earth could DD not know what sort of movie he was going to go see and how it was made. Everything I have seen about the show it has been pretty clear that this show is about a group of friends trying to survive a monster attack in New York filmed from their own point of view.

Well I did know pretty much about it before going to see it?

And I was giving it the benefit of the doubt ,hoping for a great movie as the trailer for the most part don't show it in first person camcorder?

But I really didn't know it was being shot in first person Camcorder!

Turns out a co-worker and I use the iCoke movie passes I have all the time and that one just came up on the rotation?

Please don't any one be angry for me saying it was crud but that's the way I feel about it,hard to believe it was shot for $25,000,000.00 ,must of been for all the fireworks and CGI.