

Forum: Challenges & Duels

Topic: Heromorph + C2F team competition rules

Subject: Re: deadline

Posted by: F-max

Posted on: 2004/6/28 13:49:21

Right, the deadline isn't moving. The deadline is as dead as Dubyah Bush's brain function.

Mike and I sorted dates ourselves because there was very little input from anyone else at the time...I am sure there will be another round - make sure you make your wants known to whoever organises it (personally I want more complimentary grapes).

As brick keeps (rightfully, damn him) reminding us this is meant to be fun. We don't want to see masterpieces - we want to see people having fun! No one will let anyone down as long as you had fun. Now have fun or I will start slapping people!!!

The reason for this competition was to bring together two groups that often didn't get along. This will work better if we see the results sooner rather than months from now.

Now that democracy has been thrust upon you all I would like to ask where all the other Heromorphers are?

Batmic and Baddog emails please.

And there are a whole lot of others I want to see signing up, some names that come to mind are MissVee, Button, Kallisti, Billy, PM Jazz, Jedifan, Bloody Kat, Angelophile, SirBlabalot... the list is endless (and apparently I am meant to be working today).

Max - just pretend I wrote something really inspiring here.