Another webservice says its more like 7000! characters.

What will this mean for sites like this who do FanWork of these characters?

Disney sued a preschool for having characters painted on the walls.

Other things to considered (gleaned from other sites):

Disney now has the rights to Marvel/Miracleman.

There are a boatload of characters from the Malibu/Ultraverse line. (The creators have certain rights and that may have been one reason Marvel stopped publishing those characters as they have to PAY those guys!)

The Crossgen material.

What will all of this mean if the deal is finalized and goes through?
