I just joined up in late 2009 so I don't think I should nominate, but will be happy to vote when the time is right, but I was wondering, is there some reason everytime I try to upload an image or even click a link, I am getting redirected to the Heromorph Awards nomination page???? Will it stop now that I responded?

Sorry about that it appears the moderator that coded the block at the top of the gallery page forgot to close off his link code with a `` so it was taking over the whole page

And yes it really was OCP's fault.
