Interesting. But, he has mass, so standing in front of a man made light, for instance, he would cast a shadow... and he would be a very bright spot in front of said mirror. So, no, I do not think he would be invisible.

But, does the Silver Surfer get boogers? He has a nose, he breathes so would he? Hmmmmm

He would be, in essence, a living mirror. Everything would reflect off if him, despite his having mass.
