Okay, as Hawk pointed out to me in the shout box, if people want to do an intersite challenge, they can just use the dueling system you guys have here. Another team-up is probably a more natural means of fostering a good relationship between the sites. So I'm tempted to suggest we should just do it again, and Max and I can match people up... I'm not sure if the rookie/cruiser/veteran thing would be necessary in that case, but I guess we could go with it, it'd make the quality of any given image more uniform, if nothing else. I'll now open up the floor for rebuttals, but I do think this makes a great deal of sense. Oh, and how about a word from my opposite number -- Max, what d'you think?
