The consensus from the vocal people is a team-up, cool - that's what it is.

Now we know we can put the word out and ask for artists who want to take part.

As for the date, I think it's way too early but let's ask around first and see when people are available (I won't be for Feb and March - it's my Summer).

Pairing of the artists should be random. If it's just a standard team-up I suggest there's no need for choosing levels.
