Forum: HM General Chit Chat

Topic: Ownership arguement.

Subject: Re: Ownership arguement

Posted by: Daruma

Posted on: 2005/8/11 20:17:18

Yeah, I don't think I like this. I was flattered when one of my pics showed up at the Wizard photomanip site, but this is a little different. Having work posted in another gallery alongside other similar pics is one thing, but...I guess it's a matter of your art being "displayed" or just being "used". And of course, at the Wizard site both myself and Heromorph got credit. The banner below yours has a credit on it, so maybe they'll at least change it so that yours does too. But I will say that I think it's a mistake to say you're "trying to make a living", as this could be misconstrued as saying you're making money off of the DC images, which could be a pretty serious copyright infringement. I think you probably just meant that you're trying to make a living as an artist in general, but you may want to clarify. Some people don't have a lick of sense.