i worked on it a little more now i am about 80% done. I got a little sidetracked thinking about the offspring/christmas challenge. but i got it out of my system. I like the idea of a fashion magazine cover. now the background will have to be dark. i recently put some solid color layers behind what we got so far (as a color test, to see what would work and what would not) and it looks alot better in front of darker colors.
