Forum: Heromorph Site Rules
Topic: Every one Please Read:Quality and Posting
Subject: e-mail and Yahoo.
Posted by: Winterhawk
Posted on: 2005/9/4 12:14:10

Quote:

Darius wrote:
One possible suggestion to help with this:

If people are working on a piece and want comments/suggestions, it might be nice to have a section specifically for them to upload. They could be commented on, and then deleted once they are a week old (or whatever).

There are time it would be good to be able to get some input on works in progress and specific tips/techniques from others who have more experience.

Just a thought...there are various Yahoo groups and you can always use e-mail for WIP. This site has a bandwidth problem, and is for original/complete works only. if people want help they could also post the WIP's on there own web space and ask for help in the forums providing a link to the picture. there is no need to fill our gallery with 9 versions of the same picture or with WIP's that is not what this site is about.