I had this one series called Plasum ( can't remember the company) but it was a short run mini series about a few normal humans who were taken to an alien world where they were grafted with some form of Bio weapon that gave them mutant powers like light manipulation and the like

Plasm/Warriors of Plasm was published by Defiant comics -- until they were litigated out of existence by Marvel, who had rushed "Plasmer" to print (in the UK only) just in time for the lawsuit.

Gotta love Google (especially since they're planning to rule the Earth). Here's a link for the curious:
