on a different note i am going to see Harry Potter tonight and the movie trailer iis supposed to be attached. but if ut us the same as this....

Just got back from Harry Potter(which was quite good btw) and it is the same teaser, complete with the spider man jumping through the cornfield dumb-ass special effects. And do they really need to re-tell the origin? I'm quickly losing what little excitement I had to see this movie...

On a side note, they also showed the short film that won "project greenlight" with the previews for HP. It shows a guy camping out for tickets to a movie caled "Captain Lightning", who looks incredibly similar to Captain Bold.
