Most critics always want you to go see the artsy film that you have to read the subtitle which distracts you from watching the film!

They all seem to want you to go see what they think is good not what really is good?

As David Lee Roth once said "Most critics like Elvis Costello more than David Lee Roth because they can relate to how he looks!" {nerd like}not that his music isn't good mind you!

Now on to the Flux of the matter,I think I would have loved to see Charlize Theron wearing the original cartoon costume more than a full covered body suit in this film!

Maybe someone will do a manip of her in the original costume sometime in the future?
