Hi everyone. Although I've been hanging around on Heromorph for a while admiring everyone's work, this is the first time I've made a post here.

Anyway, a while ago I had found a good tutorial for creating costumes in gray on already clothed people; much like it looks that DarkBlade used in his 30 in 30. (At least it looks that way based on his animated avatar.) Unfortunately after a hard drive crash I lost the tutorial and my link to it, and while BA's start to finish tutorial is great for doing manip's with nudes it doesn't help much when needing to deal with bikinis or other clothes that aren't exactly right for the costume.

So, anybody know the tutorial I'm talking about, or have another good tutorial or tips they want to share? Hopefully, soon after my sprained wrist has healed I'll share my first completed manip on here.

Thanks
