I don't think she is purposefully trying to scam you, but she is a bit deluded. These websites selling online comics show up all the time and most fail.

I wonder what the money is for? If the comics are downloadable then there shouldn't be a lot of costs past a domain name and bandwidth.

Nu-uh, not this way. Let's say $30k times 200 people = $6 million. That's a lot of comics to sell each year.
