Everyone kept asking me what i wanted for xmas,and i tried to explain to them that im not too much of a materialistic man.But being the friends they are kept pn going with it.In hopes of avoiding some dumbass flannel thing i sat down and pondered what i needed. I came up with socks. So now i am rocking these nice and shiny new white half cut ankle socks ! :) Of course tho i recieved a soft fuzzy jacket thing from my fiance's mom,and other small clothes related stuff from family. Also being sick with stuffy nose and a cough has kind of pushed the holiday joys away from me.Not too many want to come celebrate with a coughing dripy nose boy :'(

WaaWAAA i feel so unloved. notice the dramatics havent found themselves astray from me :)

Wishing everyone a happy 4th week of december and new year.
