Has anyone ever seen the movie Splash? Would you remember the part where Tom Hanks is talking to his secretary and she's standing there with her undies on the outside of her clothes, cuz she had been hit by lightning? I swear every time I read a comic I am constantly reminded of that.

Superman, Batman, Wolverine, Cyclops, Captain America, Bluebeetle, all the early xmen costumes really..... etc, etc, etc. Are they all retarded?! Were they hit by lightning? Why do they all have their underwear on the outside of their pants?! Is it like a country wide requirement that in order for your comics to be successful you must wear your speedos over your levis?! Luke Cage didn't do it, and look what happened. Nothing. His comics sucked! But you stick some character in some bright colored trunks over his clothes and woohoo you're gonna make millions of dollars! Geez, you people make me sick!
