about a year & a half ago,i got a call from a friend,saying he had something to show me.when i got to his house,he showed me some copies of some of Hurricane Season's pics that he had printed out.i spent the entire weekend at his house(this was before i had access to the net,though i had a computer for gameing)making him do web searches for more manip sites.a few weeks later,i got internet access & could do my own searches & leave him alone to get some sleep,as i was hopelessly addicted by then.i finally came across HM,lurcked for awhile(didn't feel i was qualified to speak up,due to not being an artist).one day i saw a pic somebody did of Emma Frost & i couldn't remain silent anymore.the rest,as they say,is history.
