Hold on, hold on...

I never said it was plagiarism either.

I just think it'd be nice for people viewing the site AND the artist to just get a name on whatever image is used, if nothing else, so people can see who it's by and look at their galleries if the fancy takes them.

That seems pretty simple.

It's nice to have your work recognised, but if no one know who it's by, it's not much in the way of recognition.
