In a way,they may have.If the thing is an opportunity to respond to my last posting on my alternative lantern thread,AKA A Lantern Comic Like No Other.I was very much hoping for replies to that particular statement too.For those who wanted to do just that,[assuming Winterhawk doesn't mind,of course]feel free to post such replies here.

Although that thread may have developed to be a redundant conversation to the opinion of one or some,I certainly don't feel it was redundant,as it was intended to be among the most unique threads, in terms of subject matter,of all.That said,considering what a webmaster can do,perhaps that one or more replies to my last statement on that thread is the last we should post about it.
