

Forum: Comic Book Corner

Topic: Ten best villian moments

Subject: Re: Ten best villian moments

Posted by: Guest

Posted on: 2006/3/19 13:51:51

Quote:

chillyplasma wrote:

For starters: VILLAIN

The word is spelt ?villain? not villian (unless you are referring to vaudevillian) check the internet,you'll see it spelled both ways.

Secondly I am not going to post any of my favourite villain?s moments as I don?t think for a second anyone here is interested in hearing my opinion on what someone else wrote, someone else drew and some other guys published.

That it prececisely what this website it for.Worrying about being embarrassed by our own statements on a website like this did not stop us from posting what we did.If any one of us saw you in person,most likely we wouldn't evan know it.

Onewhowishes, if you are really interested in the things you keep writing about then I fully encourage you to script, draw and post your own comics. If you ask nicely there are many here who can help you. In the meantime stop shoving it down our throats.

That is also precisely what websites like this are for,il hardly think I forcing ideas upon others anymore or less than any other poster.

And I think Winterhawk has the right idea. The dead horse has been flogged with these threads enough already!

As for this,let other posters be the judges of that by choosing to post or not post opinions of their own.Also,you misspelled "Spelled"with a "t" instead of the 7 proper letters.If you wish to correct my spelling,shouldn't you be certain your own is also correct?