How did I find Heromorph?

A member (back in the day when such things were allowed) was posting my manips without telling me. Someone pointed it out to me and I came for a look.

Why did I stay?

Simply because HM allows easy communication with other artists. So the conversation can be of an artistic/technical nature and not just subject matter.

This compares much better to some messages from non-artists who assume that just because I made an ?erotic? manip, that means I am interested in all their sick fetishes.

Take the message that went something like:

?I like to see pictures of women all beaten up with black eyes, I find it really sexy. I want you to do a picture of a superheroine beaten up with black eyes. Are you up to the challenge?!?

No, I was not up to the challenge. And I pity whoever shares his trailer-park.

Fortunately here most people keep their private desires, private. Except for the farting guy and a few other examples? like the guy who posted multiple messages under my Wonder Woman in the shower pic?

The thing in the fridge is lettuce. I think. It's green.
