Is there ANY way to turn that music off? I didn't know it was there, at first, I got up, took a shower, turned off the shower, came back and heard music playing, and I could NOT figure out why, it was playing in three different browser windows because I had three images open (was waiting for them to load)...

Nearly gave me a heart attack. NOW, I'm trying to surf and find some art I might be inspired by, but every time a new page loads, that annoying song starts up, full volume even though I have my PC's volume turned down... Ugh. -.-; It's a cute song, the first time. The fifteenth time it starts, while I'm trying to listen to other stuff...

I already looked in the profile section and such, trying to find a way to permanently mute it, but I can't.

I'm sorry to make my first post one that's basically whining about the site, because this place seems REALLY nice...
