Take any comic book cover from any publisher and recreate it as a 3d and/or photomanip image. It does not have to be exact and you do not need to include the title and other logos on your image. The picture of spectre I did some time ago would be a good example of the cover image recreation. It can be a scene/ pinup or what ever you want. but you do need to name the issue number and title of the cover you recreated to be included.
