

Forum: HM General Chit Chat

Topic: Origins

Subject: Re: Origins

Posted by: darth_paul

Posted on: 2006/3/30 11:11:38

I discovered super-hero photomanipulation sites such as Hurricane Season back when I started college and passed my free time surfing the web in our internet lab that we had on campus. That was from 1996-2000, and I believe that I first discovered Comics 2 Film at that time as well. However, as much as I admire all the great manips and wish that I could do them as well, I just don't have the time to do anything that complicated. So, instead I've just now decided to become a member of Heromorph, C2F, Bold and Graphicmouse (which is closing, boo-hoo) just as a way of posting my 2D character art on as many other sites besides just my own website to gain some exposure and get feedback to get better as an artist.