I dont really think that artist getting upset will be a problem most of the nominations are artist submissions so they know they will be in for a bumby ride. I for one, don't really care who wins or loses, it is all about fun anyway. After all this is Just a friendly competition between friends and artists. no more no less.

For those that dont win, it is ok, I think all the nominated artists and pictures this year are fantastic and i really enjoy all of them.

I really like your idea of a sub-gallery, i was thinking of re-posting the winning images with a heromorph award logo and boarder around them.
