DW is right. If there is only 6 drawings, and 10 colorist come on, then it doesn't matter. They pick the one they want to color. Same for Manipppers. Whatever drawing you want to color or manip, go for it. AS LONG AS IT ISN'T YOUR OWN.

Incidently, manipppers would actually have 4 weeks to work on their pic. Once the drawings are up and we move to the color round, the manipppers can choose a drawing and start manipulating. They don't have to wait for the colored versions. Besides, a manipppers favorite drawing may not end up being colored.

If you all have anymore questions, just ask.
