Winterhawk, it's the same thing with any other fan; grown men that can quote chapter and verse of baseball stats, Nascar fans that own a complete wardrobe based on their favorite driver, music groupies that know everything about their favorite band...while I may not care about Dale Earnhart Jr, I expect the same respect when I talk about the Summer's family tree. It's all relative when you look at it.

Thats exactly what I am talking about. now imagine a sports fan going on about sports stats and then getting upset and or mocking you because you don't share there knowledge. Thats what this thread is about, mocking those that are not comicbook and/or scifi fans, and like I said in my last post their is no reason to get upset at someone because they don't share your interest, in fact IMO it makes you just as bad if not worse as those you are mocking.
