i seen it last night with my kids..did i like it yes i did..did i think it was the greatest movie ever made no..do i think it was better than the spiderman movies..hell no is it better than the x men film i say yes but others will call me insane was it as good as batman begins not really close but no cigar.did i buy routh as superman yes and no there was times i was like hey thats superman then in other scenes i was like look at the honker on this guy what a geek.and what about kate bothsworth...worse lois lane ever i didnt find her the least bit attractive and she came off as a bitch at times ..this movie was more of a tribute to richard donner than superman singer has admited to not being a comic book fan i never liked his work and thought his x men movies where a bit lame ..kevin spacey was a good lex but are'nt we all tired of the same tried and week plot that luthor whats to be a land baron..i hope when they make the next one that they recast lane and superman and get rid of singer and bring in some one who loves comics and superman..if they don.t this will be what happens supes keeps mopeing over lois..lex kidnaps superkid and tries to use him against supes supes pervails and flys into space at the end with that goddamn grin on his face i for one don't want to see that lets see darksied,doomsday lets see how powerful supes can be...
