with cable, adsl, and the other options for high speed internet it amazes me that people would actually pay for dail up. I could see people using it still if it was free but to pay for dail up seems to be a crime. And the Last time I checked the difference in price was 2 dollars a month in my area, I would say my dail up friends Kill your Modem and get a network card.

Once you go High Speed you will not know what you were thinking.

BTW I can open all ten thumbnails in under ten seconds, I just gotta click fast
