I know that I'm gonna go out on a limb here with the whole super-kid theory...

But if any of you remember that Lois did sleep with Superman after he gave up his powers. So yes, technically, she wasn't at risk of having super powered semen/sperm shooting through her since he was technically "human".

Now jump forward to the end of the movie; Superman stood inside the chamber to be protected from the reverse effects of the radiation that allowed him to be human in the first place. Anyone with Kryptonian DNA standing outside would now be in direct contact with those effects (Zod, Ursa, Non). Lois and Lex would be un-affected, or so you would think... Remember Lois now has Kryptonian turned Human semen/sperm inside her. Since she was in contact w/ the radiation, then it's safe to say that that semen/sperm inside her would've been affected and changed back from Human/Kryptonian to Super Kryptonian.

That I can accept for the super-kid. But ZOD? How will he pull that one off?

Sorry for keeping this post alive.
