I don't have a lot of posts to my credit, but the ones I do have are insightful & constructive...or at least opinionated. I like to browse the art on this site. I do draw comic-book style line/pencil art and it's getting better; some I would now consider posting, but I don't have a computer & the computer's I do have access to do not have scanners. I'll do something about that soon; I'm thinking a laptop as a Christmas present to myself: fully loaded, yo. As for photomanipulating, forget it. I'm in awe of it & will look at it for hours but I'm a pencil guy.

Oh, I hope this is not a fake amnesty or entrapment to trick lurkers into exposing themselves to hazing. I would then be forced to conclude this site was actually a skill for our efficient, benevolent, competent, responsible Canadian government.

Excelsior,
