Batboy, assuming you ever come back, someone should at least explain why your request is being met with such hostility. You're basically asking us for a favor, but expecting us to do all the work. I've never heard of this chick, but she looks like she'd make a pretty good Barbara Gordon. How about at the very least providing a link to some good pictures of this girl? Plus, some these guys are professional artists, they actually get paid to do this sort of thing(lucky basturds...). Imagine you're a doctor, and some guy walks into your house while you're in the middle of eating dinner and asks you to take a look at his sore throat. See what I'm saying? Also, we do provide links to free image editing software, as well as many tutorials to teach you how to make these types of pictures. Give it a shot! I knew nothing about using photoshop when I started coming here, now I've got about two dozen pics up in the galleries, some of them are even good ! And lastly, asking us if we know where to find Batgirl pics is just silly. The search bar is a wonderful tool, it can show you exactly where all the Batgirl pics are. Explore the site a little. Anyway, I hope we haven't scared you off already(we do have one or two smartasses around here...), this site isn't much good without people to look at the art here.
