

Forum: Movies & TV

Topic: Who's watching Heroes?

Subject: Re: Who's watching Heroes?

Posted by: jediadept

Posted on: 2006/10/25 20:13:39

Quote:

JrMcDeath wrote:

"I say 'screw the cheerleader.... just save the world!"

jediadept says: 'screw the cheerleader.... THEN save the world!

Quote:

B4tm4n wrote:

I don't think Mohinder Suresh will be the Xavier of this group. I'm thinking that will be Claire's "father". He's studying these people but not hurting anyone. They're trying to suggest he's the bad guy, but I think that's a curve ball.

jediadept writes: I agree wholeheartedly, but darker, more like "The Chief" of the Doom Patrol than Xavier of the X-Men.

Quote:

B4tm4n wrote:

I think that cute little "innocent" girl helping Mohinder is the assassin... (of Mohinder Suresh's father). Yes, i do think he's dead. His body was misfiled, but Mohinder did identify it and have it cremated.

jediadept writes: I also agree, if not Silas, herself. But I still think Mohinder Suresh's father (actor Erick Avari, pictured on the back cover of the book) is alive and will somehow show up, if for no other reason, because Avari is a well known actor and it would be a shame not to use him.

Quote:

B4tm4n wrote:

The kid genius... His dad is almost certainly innocent of the murders... she (his Mom) has been doing all the killing.

jediadept writes: Very very possible, if not likely; how did she just "happen" to try to bury the mob goons in the same place those other bodies were??

This turning out to be a fun dicussion

The ability to fly without external apparatus is so cool.