I like those ideas, and will use some or all of them depending on participation. The easiest way to tell you how to post in fan fiction is click on the site. When you get there, if you look under the fan fiction tab on the left there will be two sub categories. Click on the submit news, that will take you to the spot that you can paste your story in. Works just like posting a comment or a post in the forums. I hope this helps, if not PM me and I will try to help as much as I can.
