Here we go Boys and Girls, a fan fiction challenge. How it works: This challenge is designed to around a central charater, TBD. Right now I need to hear from everyone who wants to get in on this project. Each author will be allowed 3 to 5 pages to pick up where the privious author left off. The object is to get our herione out of danger during the first part of your story and then at the end of your story put her in peril for the next author. This will be posted in the regular fan fiction, so it has to be PG-13 folks. If you have an idea for the charater, put that in your post as well, then after the deadline we will find out th order in which we write and who the charater will be. Right now I am suggesting Power Girl or Huntress. I plan of being a part of this, so count me in.
