go with Wacom, they come in different sizes. but truthfully you do not need a larger size. drawing on a tablet is different then drawing on paper. once you get used to it you will realize you don't need the oversized ones (although Wacom makes those as well. If I remember correctly Jr has a big one in a box in his garage and he uses a little one at his desk.....also his tablet is small.

When I was shopping for my first tablet, everyone kept telling me that the only name in tablets is Wacom, even if they are double the price get Wacom, anyone that had a different brand of tablet said it was shitte. Everyone that had a Wacom said it was gold.

I have a 4 x 5 wacom graphire and it is all I need.
