Anybody interested in trying to make a go at webcomics? www.comicspace.com may just become something that can help. it's a relatively new site that's based on the myspace model. Only it's more about comics, and not so much about hook-ups. I'm on it trying to network (it's kinda hard to do without actually talking to anybody). Take a look around, you may find a way to make it work for you.

Check it out.
