Rat poison...that's horrible...

I can't believe our world. Being a proud pet owner myself, it really angers me to think that this may be someone's version of a cruel joke. However, we don't know if this was done purposefully for sure...but then again, I really can't think of another way rat poison could've gotten into so much pet food. I feel terrible for the owners of the animals who fell victim to this and lost their pet due to it.

If there's a culprit or more behind this, I hope they're caught and brought to "justice".
