I think it's a great idea. They sure need some new characters in the show. I hope that Lana is really blown up, I have about had it with her. They have certainly done all they can possibly do with her character. They need to get Clark and Lois going on some kind of relationship. But hopefully Chloe is going to be OK. What kind of silly meteor power is it that lets you bring someone back to life but you die in the process? Really useful.

I heard that Michael Rosenbaum was not returning? How can we have this show without Lex Luthor?

Finally, Clark needs to hurry up and become the big boy scout, he's certainly friggin' old enough. I think WB really messed up, they should have had Smallville run it's course and then let Tom Welling play Superman in a movie.
