I saw this movie yesterday, or the day before, I forget.

I may have to see it again, because the action was so fast and it was hard to keep track of everything... but mostly because when I went there were three punks who wouldn't stop shouting at the screen.

I thought the movie was a bit corny in places, then I realised that if you were going to be true to the subject material then you would have to be corny - they are giant transforming robots.

Objectively I would rate this movie a 7 out of 10, but if in the mood to see an action/special effects blockbuster, I rate it a 9.

P.S. Stay about 3 or 4 minutes into the credits to see some little extra bits.
