Google image search. that is if you know the models name.

use the advanced settings and turn off filtering and large images only. That is where I get most of my stuff.

also find the old manipers toolbox thread. some of the links are old and out of date but it still has some good ones.

Thanks for the tip. I'll try it. The hard part is knowing the various models names. besides, some of the most beautiful models may not be very well-known yet.
