

Forum: Gallery Art

Topic: High Quality Pics of Men and Women for Manips

Subject: Re: High Quality Pics of Men and Women for Manips

Posted by: ortiz01lgnd

Posted on: 2007/7/24 7:45:27

Quote:

Captain_Jack wrote:

If that is your intent then why do your images look over filtered and under worked. From the way you talk, you would think your great but your best image is just average. Your ego seems to be far bigger then your skill at manips and when someone gives you an honest critique you come up with excuses of why your mediocre image is great. When it obviously is not.

Being that I am still on probation, I will reply in a more mature manner. Perhaps, you woke up a bit grumpy and in the mood to pick a fight. Therefore i will excuse your presumptuousness this time. Perhaps you should have taken the time to read my last post IN ITS ENTIRETY,go ahead, read it again; I'll wait..... Now, hopefully, THIS TIME you didn't miss the part where I modestly stated regarding my manipulating skills: "I know I still have a LONG way to go." Just because my "idea of a manip" is for it to be very realistic, that doesn't mean that I am stating that my manips are that way....yet. That is simply my goal, to be able EVENTUALLY, to produce manips of that quality. Therefore, you wrongly assumed that I have an ego regarding my skills. Honestly, I don't get where you got the idea that i feel that I'm so great. See what happens when you ASSUME? Critique? I welcome it. That's how I've been learning and how I've gotten this far. So yes, as long as it's critique and not mean-spirited belittling, I look forward to it.

Now, you are correct in stating that my skills are mediocre. But being that I have only first started using computer art programs less than a year ago and with no training, I think I'm doing pretty well thus far. Infact, even tho I am still very new to manipulating, I have noticed that there are quit a few manips submitted (sorry guys) that are ALOT worst than mine. And they've been manipulating for much longer than I have. Therefore, I am confident that WITH TIME, I will be among the ranks of THE FEW great manipers here at heromorph such as JrMcDeath and others. Funny tho,... I checked to see YOUR art skills Captain Crunch, ...sorry, couldn't help it.... and I haven't found any manips posted by you ... hmmm? Makes me wonder... how come? Do YOU have any manipulating skills so that you can critique MY new and still-developing manipulating skills? Well, hopefully you do. and hopefully theyre better than mine. If so, great! But if not.... then you obviously wouldnt be qualified to speak about my skills, now would you? Oh, and smile. being a grump will only add wrinkles.