Well I just got finished reading the 7th book and I am very sad to see the series come to a finish.

Who would have guessed that Darth Vader would end up being Harry's dad? And what about Rosebud being the sled that Harry played with as a child? Very unexpected.

But I liked the part at the climax, when he was able to throw the horcrux into Mt. Doom and end the evil reign of Voldemort once and for all, and the epilogue where Harry and Dumbledore sailed into the west with Bilbo actually made me cry.

What did the rest of you think?
